

42nd Annual NAAUC Conference
University of Queensland
Emmanuel College
4th - 11th July 2010

TAKE CHARGE • TAKE A CHANCE • MAKE A CHANGE

FORWARD LETTER

Welcome future delegate!

In 2010 NAAUC presents a unique opportunity for you to

TAKE CHARGE,

TAKE A CHANCE, and

MAKE THE CHANGE

that you would like to see in your University College or Hall of Residence in 2010.

From 4th to 11th July this year the ten University Colleges of the University of Queensland in sunny Brisbane are hosting the 42nd Annual NAAUC (National Association of Australian University Colleges) Conference.

Over 200 passionate and enthusiastic collegiates are expected to attend the 2010 UQ Conference. They will be representing over 40 000 university college members across Australia, the largest ever college membership base.

The Conference will stimulate and challenge you with a dynamic interplay of motivational leaders, riveting and humorous discussion, and fantastic social events to let you meet other excited collegians from across Australia. This year, the conference theme of Take Charge, Take a Chance and Make the Change will be used to extend the delegates, and make them realise the potential of their colleges.

We aim to equip attending delegates with skills, knowledge and networks to tackle any issue or position head on, whether it be as a Resident Advisor, President, Fresher or something else! Not only will you learn practical ways to function within your College and the broader community, but a working party of previous delegates from the ten University of Queensland colleges will be on hand to advise and facilitate your involvement.

Your participation will emphasize the importance of relationships, shared knowledge and networking, and will provide the stimulus for your contribution to the college environment.

So, are you ready to take on the challenge of fruitful days and tireless nights where you will learn valuable inter-personal, administrative and leadership techniques to carry back to your College? Are you ready to stand out from the crowd because of your experience at NAAUC?

NAAUC 2010 is to be held at Emmanuel College on the UQ St Lucia Campus. It will be so exciting that you will wish that the week could be college-life for the year. The challenging and energizing people with whom you will mix will stimulate a passion in you about college lifestyle and its potential for personal and community growth. A balanced program of professional learning and social events will leave delegates wanting more, more, more.....

We look forward to your involvement in NAAUC 2010. Attend to know what is possible at your college, and remember, be the change that you want to see!

We hope to see you in July.

Cheers,

Kobie Olsen & Laura Stokes

In conjunction with the:

NAAUC 2010 Executive and the UQ Working Party

FROM THE PRESIDENT

My name is Shayne and I have the privilege of being president of the National Association of Australian University Colleges in 2010. It is with great pride that I welcome you to join NAAUC at our 42nd National Conference, held at the University of Queensland.

NAAUC can trace its beginnings to a small group of College Student Club Presidents that met in 1968. The following year NAAUC launched its inaugural national conference at the University of Sydney and since then NAAUC has continued to grow. The national conference has transformed greatly since this initial meeting, however it still sets out to achieve the same goal. The conference aims to disseminate information to student leaders by facilitating diverse student interaction, and to increase awareness of issues facing college students. While the focus is on dealing with college issues, the conference also aims to develop skills to lead and manage student committees.

Currently NAAUC represents over 90 member colleges and residential halls throughout Australia. As NAAUC has expanded, its focus has been to ensure it maintains greater interaction with tertiary students living on campus throughout the whole year, not just the National Conference. Through our NAAUC on the Road program, we present our PDS program to residences all over Australia and assist with committee changeovers and strategic planning. 24 hours a day access to accumulated knowledge compiled of information gathered over 40 years is also available via our website which is constantly updated and a very valuable resource for all leaders. This constant evolution is how NAAUC has developed into the peak representative body for tertiary students living on-campus and brings us to this year's National Conference at the University of Queensland.

Take Charge, Take a Chance and Make a Change is this year's theme for the National Conference and this theme encapsulates what the original gathering of college presidents set out to do back in 1968. They stepped up and were ready to take charge. They were not held back by a fear of failure and were willing to take a chance. As a result of this, they succeeded in making a change by establishing what is now the peak representative body for tertiary students living on campus in Australia.

As you can see, great things can happen from passionate people coming together sharing ideas. This is why I encourage all of you to attend the 2010 NAAUC National Conference and be ready to Take Charge, Take a Chance and Make a Change in your own residence and the wider community.

I hope to see you there!

Shayne Herriott

HOST COLLEGE

Emmanuel College, within the University of Queensland

Delegates attending the conference will be offered some of the best college accommodation offered at UQ, by staying at the beautiful, riverside Emmanuel College.

Nested within the picturesque surround of the University of Queensland St Lucia Campus, Emmanuel College is the oldest residential colleges on the campus. Founded in 1911 by the Presbyterian Church, it is now host to 345 undergraduate and postgraduate collegians, and has some of the best conference and living facilities UQ has to offer.

Emmanuel pride themselves on high academic achievement and all-round excellence, including success in the sporting and cultural arenas. They inspire respect and tolerance from all that pass through, and instill a strong sense of community service in all collegians. All students are welcome to use the state of the art gym, squash courts, Junior Common room, complete with pool table, plasma screen and AUSTAR, as well as computer and printing facilities. These facilities will be available all week to the 200 delegates staying at Emmanuel.

On arrival to Emmanuel, each NAAUC 2010 delegate will be shown to their own room, each with lockable door, spacious cupboard and drawer space, desk and other essential furniture.

In the few moments of spare time, delegates can relax in the lovely Emmanuel Quadrangle, head down to the Brisbane River and relax, or head out to the many ovals and walking tracks that surround UQ and blow off some steam.

For our other delegates, single lockable rooms will be available at the neighbouring ladies' colleges, Duchesne and The Women's College. These are a mere 2 minutes walk from Emmanuel, and offer fantastic living and recreational facilities. Delegates staying at these colleges will eat all meals at Emmanuel with the other delegates.

ACADEMIC PROGRAM

Discussion Groups

Discussion groups are where most information is shared between colleges. These small groups allow delegates to share their college's ideas and systems with other delegates from across Australia. Each year the topics are selected by the delegates to focus on current issues and problems in colleges. An appointed leader, usually a returning delegate promotes interaction among all participants and facilitates discussions. This year's discussions will include, but are not limited to:

- O-Week
- Relationships with Administration
- Traditions, College Spirit and Inter-Collegiality
- Non- Alcoholic Events
- Diversity and Community
- Sexuality in Colleges

All the information that is gathered in these discussion groups will be made available in the Post Conference Report.

Workshops

The objective of a workshop is to allow small groups of delegates to participate in interactive sessions led by people with relevant experience in the field. This hands-on experience allows delegates to discuss college experiences and learn more about issues affecting colleges while developing invaluable practical skills. Topics will include:

- Mental Health in Colleges
- Operational Professionalism and Committee Dynamics
- Liquor Licensing and Responsible Service of Alcohol
- Conflict Resolution
- Strategic Planning and Giving Value for Membership
- Event and Risk Management

In 2010, we are pleased to offer a new category of NAAUC education in our Skills Workshops:

- Public Speaking
- College Accounting and Budgeting
- Running a Meeting
- Time Management

Personal Development Seminars

The Professional Development Seminars are a staple of NAAUC. They aim to teach a broad base of fundamental issues relevant in the running of organizations, student or otherwise. These seminar style sessions are designed to empower students by passing on the combined knowledge and experience of the Association, instilling the appropriate responsibilities and expectations in the participants. This year particular areas of interest will include:

- Socialising without Alcohol
- Sponsorship and Merchandise
- Colleges, Halls and the Law
- Incorporation
- Publications and Advertising
- Changes in Colleges, Halls and Residences
- Integration of All Residents

Role Development Seminar

The NAAUC Conference is directed by veteran college leaders to encourage and aid future leaders. The Role Development Seminars are a key tool in passing information to prospective office seekers and in sharing lessons learned – the hard way – from other colleges.

Seminars will be presented on the following areas:

- President
- Vice President
- Secretary
- Treasurer
- Social Officer
- Residential Advisor
- Sports Representative
- Inter-College Representative
- Starting a Student Club

Daily Debrief

After the success of the 'Daily Debrief' at the 2009 conference, Brisbane will be relying on a full returning delegate working party team to push delegates to new heights. The 2010 Conference intends to give delegates practical opportunities for them to apply the skills learnt and presented throughout NAAUC 2010. This year there will be a competition in place which places each daily debrief group in the running for an awesome price. In order to receive this price, each daily debrief group will have the opportunity to present on the topics of 'charge, chance, change', demonstrating all the skills that they have acquired throughout NAAUC.

ANTICIPATED KEYNOTE

SPEAKERS

Do you ever feel like your banging your head against a brick wall when you are trying to get an idea across to your residential community? Are you battling to get people motivated, involved or enthusiastic about events? We guarantee you by the time you have heard Eric Bailey speak you will know what the meaning of KEEN is. Bailey has overcome the heights of oppression and incredible adversity to playing the NBA. He has since motivated many organisations to develop key performance indicators and reach achievable strategic goals.

Dr Phil Jauncey is widely regarded as Australia's foremost Performance Psychologist working for the likes of the Wallabies and the Australian Cricket Team. Why is he going to help you with improving your colleges and halls of residents? Phil will show YOU how YOU may not be able to change the past or the present, but how you can actively control the future of your college and/or environment through the following simple process:

1. What am I doing now?
2. Is it working?
3. If not, Change!
4. Be specific (positively).
5. Make a plan.
6. Act on it

Be prepared to find out how you can be the change that you want to see at your college or hall of residence.

Fiona Crowe is the current President of the Association of Heads of Australian University Colleges and Halls Inc (AHAUCHI), an association geared towards promoting the benefits of collegiate living, and enhancing the quality of life in residential halls and colleges. AHAUCHI officially began in 1965, and since then meet annually for a week-long conference to discuss important issues in collegiate living. She is also Principal of St Catherine's College at the University of Western Australia. Fiona is a vibrant, interactive speaker, and is sure to enlighten you on some misconceptions of college and hall living.

Simon Scott is the current President of the Australasian Association of College and University Housing Officers, an association that serves the needs of all those who work in post secondary accommodation no matter what their specific role description. AACUHO has been running since the late 80's and primarily gets together at an annual conference each year to discuss issues of relevance and promote networking amongst our members. Simon has recently chalked up 11 years in the Halls of Residence at the University of Queensland Gatton Campus where he has been Head since 2005. Simon says "if you had of told me I would be here in ten years time when I started I would have told you to "get a life" but student accommodation environments are addictive, not to mention the dining hall food, and I believe we are truly fortunate to be able to work in such positions."

Duncan Armstrong has represented Australia in two Olympic Games. He rose to international fame when he won gold at the Seoul Olympics and broke the world record. Throughout his stellar career, Duncan also won a host of honours out of the water, including Young Australian of the Year and an Order of Australia Medal. He is now a sports presenter and public speaker on being successful in any endeavour. He's stories of overcoming failure will inspire you to push through any adversities you may face during your college years and beyond.

Allan Pease, known internationally as Mr. Body Language, Allan has been instrumental in developing the individual with the right skills, motivation and a strong desire to succeed. Allan Pease can help you accomplish anything. Allan will ensure that each delegate walks away with some of the techniques and skills necessary to conducting yourselves as leader in your college or hall of residence. Guaranteed improvement in your manor, public speaking and approachability, Pease will teach you how to become a people magnet and make solid and fruitful relationships.

Queensland Leader of the Opposition, Shadow minister for the Arts and brilliant father to one of our working party members, John-Paul Honoré Langbroek prior to his election was a Dental Surgeon in Ashmore and Surfers Paradise. His story on becoming one of the youngest Leaders of the Opposition is rewarding, and as Guest Speaker of The Queensland Parliament will make Parliamentary Debating an entertaining and insightful evening.

At only 25 years of age, Hugh Evans has already earned an enviable reputation as international humanitarian, and founding Director of the Oaktree Foundation. Since completing high school in 2001, Hugh was awarded the 2004 Young Australian of the Year, and was instrumental in organizing the World Poverty Project. His story is empowering, motivational and will leave you ready to change the world! Opening speaker for our social justice day, Hugh is going to give you practical solutions and approaches that each college can make to improving their community involvement as individuals and as a collective.

Now known as the youngest breakfast radio team in Australia, Tom Ballard and Alex Dyson are Triple J's weekday breakfast program. Alex attended NAAUC in previous years, attending the 2009 NAAUC Conference in Sydney. They have won multiple awards, including Ballard's Best Newcomer at the Melbourne International Comedy Festival, and both have shot to fame in the past 12 months. With these boys as MCs for the Charity Auction, we are sure to not only have some great laughs but see some quality items go under the hammer to raise funds for RED FROGS.

Very well known around Australia as Founding Director of Red Frogs, Andy Gourley has helped many colleges and organizations for many years provide safe and alternative options to drinking. Gourley has paved the way in colleges and halls of residence for responsible service of alcohol, pastoral care and alternative options for having a good time. Red Frogs are NAAUCs best friends.

As 2010 UQ Union President, Michael Zivic is a major supporter of UQ colleges. Reputed as the strongest relationship between a Union and a group of colleges in the past three years this mutually beneficial relationship has ensured a stronger relationship with college wants and needs and university wants and needs.

The Access Plus team will be the technology specialists throughout the NAAUC conference this year. As experts currently working in the IT industry, the Access Plus team will be providing some great insight into technology related issues during workshops on issues such as; marketing electronically, social networking and the future of the internet.

SOCIAL PROGRAM

No good college conference is complete without an absolutely raging social program. So, after the success of many UQ College parties, we bring you:

Casino Royale

NAAUC '10 is kicking off the week with the Opening dinner, decked out in typical 'Brisvegas' theme!!!! After this wonderful dinner, we bring you 'Casino Royale': NAAUC Casino Night. Play a hand of poker, test your luck at the roulette table, and bet on some greyhound racing as you get to know the other delegates.

Life in Monte Carlo

Queensland is the Sunshine State! We pride ourselves on sexy, brown lifeguards and an abundance of beauties. Being held in the luscious UQ amphitheatre and surrounded by the iconic UQ lakes, this party will have a typical Queensland flavour – toad racing!! We are travelling far and wide to find only the best, most athletic toads to race, and is sure to be a definite crowd-pleaser!!

State of Origin

The Annual grudge match between Queensland and New South Wales is on again!! For all the rugby fans, the State of Origin will be shown by the UQ Union on the many large plasma screens in the recently renovated Red Room. Come and watch the game and celebrate with the mighty Maroons as they thrash the cockroaches from the south.

For delegates who aren't rugby crazy, a movie night will be organized to scope out the popular Southbank. Ride the 'Brisbane Eye', head to the IMAX theatre to watch the new released Harry Potter, and stroll across the bridge to have a look through Queen St Mall. Finally, take the famous City Cat back to UQ and head up to the Red Room to join the other delegates after the State of Origin.

Annual Merch Swap

'What better way to instantly get to know someone then to get your kit off...?' No NAAUC Conference would be complete without the Annual NAAUC Merch Swap! This year, the Merch Swap will be held at the Red Room before the night's social events. Bring all your college merch – shirts, socks, shorts, hats, stubby coolers, and you'll be guaranteed to grab an awesome stash of awesome gear!!

80's Vegas Wedding Exchange Pub Crawl

There's nothing like a 'glitz and glamour' trashy Vegas Wedding to show our wonderful nightlife! The night will begin with the engagement party at the Red Room, then we separate and the real fun begins!! Boys and girls head on their crawl through the city, and end at the Wedding venue – an old church! Each delegate will dress up as a certain character – so get keen and start thinking of costume ideas! You could be the crazy uncle of the bride, the token tourists who watch Vegas weddings, and the night wouldn't be complete without the iconic fake Elvis marrying our lovely couple!!!

NAWCC

After the amazing success of the NAAUC Wine and Cheese Association in 2009, we are bringing it back, with vintage cheese and NAAUC's very own wine!!

Finally, after a massive week, the...

NAAUC BALL!!!

This year, the ball will be held in a mystery location, close to the heart of Brisbane. After an amazing Sydney Opera House ball last year, we have found our own 'Sydney Harbour Bridge' and have a few surprises in store for the final night!!! As always, after the ball, everyone will head into town, and finally end at the Cas bar!!

PARLIAMENTARY DEBATE

The model debate gives delegates the opportunity to match their wits in an educational and slightly comical look at contentious college issues. Always one of the highlights of the week, the parliamentary debating will be held at the Queensland Legislative Assembly.

From the moment you arrive at the Legislative Assembly in Parliament House, you will become an Honourable Member of the NAAUC Assembly. The Speaker of the House will introduce delegate members to parliamentary procedure and ensure it is followed all evening. Delegates are to dress in corporate attire.

Pre-selected front-benchers will be called on to debate six proposed bills. These are as follows:

- Are traditions holding us back, and should we move on?
- Hazing is an essential part of O-Week.
- If meals aren't provided, it's not a college!
- Exec are here to make a mess, RAs are here to clean it up!
- College selection should be confined to country students.
- Alcohol consumption is up to the individual.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

This year the NAAUC Conference has dedicated a day of its program to 'community service and colleges'. Delegates will gain the inspiration and ideas to make real change both in their residence and in the community.

Inspiration

The day kicks off with a presentation by the Young Australian of the Year (2004), Hugh Evans, of the Global Poverty Project. The Global Poverty Project is a joint initiative created in 2008 by young Australian development advocates Hugh Evans and Simon Moss that aims to increase awareness and action in regards to extreme poverty, and facilitate global action.

Community Service Fair

A new addition to the NAAUC Calendar, the Community Service Fair will provide an informal forum in which delegates can visit stalls showcasing a number of community-minded initiatives. With NAAUC's 300-odd delegates taking these ideas to their 50 000 peers living on campus, this schmoozing-session has the potential to start a whole lot of good deeds!

Ideas into ACTION!

Friday's Daily Debrief is all about community service. Delegates will be asked to take the best ideas of the day and to plan their implementation back home.

Global Dinner

Since its introduction in 2008, the NAAUC Global Dinner has proven to be a popular and powerful alternative event. Tables are divided between first, second and third world countries, and treated accordingly; with luxury for the few and poverty for quite a few more. What happens when deforestation hits your country? Or the GFC crushes your currency? Although somewhat controversial, the night promises to be memorable.

Charity Auction

Every year, NAAUC holds an auction to raise money for charity. This year, we are very pleased to support the amazing Red Frogs. We are also very excited to announce that Tom Ballard and Alex Dyson of Triple J breakfast (and St Hilda's UniMelb), will be joining us as guest MCs! There will be hilarity, shenanigans, and a whole lot of quality merchandise for you to bid on for charity. Don't forget to bring your wallets! (NB – group bids are welcomed and encouraged!)

10am Delegates Depart

Why not!

After returning from the NAAUC 2010 Conference, delegates will have been given exclusive insights into college life and a renewed enthusiasm for college leadership. They will also walk away with new ideas to help your Student Clubs in areas such as:

- Event organisation
- Running O-Week
- Operating your committee professionally
- Accounting, college legalities and incorporation
- Building community spirit
- Mental health issues
- Responsible service of alcohol
- New and exciting social functions
- Improving relations with your administration for your mutual benefit
- Inter- College relationships and their benefits on college environments

Delegates will also return home with:

- Genuine solutions or methods for dealing with college problems such as pastoral care, personal conflicts, inefficiencies, legal issues and apathy.
- Established contacts with other students and a support network for the exchange of ideas and information across colleges.
- Personal experience in leadership relevant areas, gained through key note speakers, interaction with other students and workshops.
- A formal Conference Report produced after the conference with records of all the information gathered from guest speakers, workshops, role development and discussion groups.
- Motivation and commitment to go back and make a difference in your college with a support network behind you.
- For most, the Conference is a once in a lifetime opportunity that has to be experienced to be believed. It will change the way you look at colleges, universities, education, and yourself. It will lead you to question your social, cultural, and environmental beliefs, morals, and standards. The lessons learnt will prepare you as a future leader in society enabling you to empower those around you to unite, and ultimately you will be able to facilitate a superior college environment.

SELECTING DELEGATES

It is suggested a minimum of two delegates represent your college, as it is impossible for an individual to attend even half of the workshops and discussion groups where most information on colleges is accumulated. It is even harder once the delegate returns to college to grasp all the opportunities he/she has been made aware of, as he/she will simply not have the required support. The more residents you send the more opportunities your college will be able to take hold of.

Here are a few suggestions for selecting your delegates:

1. If your residence has a student club, the President should take the first place. Presidents have the experience and knowledge of their colleges to utilise the relevant information. They are also in the best position to implement improvements on their return.
2. An active and hardworking member of the Student Club (if applicable) who will return to college next year. The committee can elect this representative. If your residence does not have a student club, we recommend any hardworking leader who will return the following year.
3. Many colleges send three or more delegates that range from first years to senior tutors.
4. Don't discount previous delegates!

However, all good delegates possess motivation, initiative, discipline, and are outgoing and proactive in attitude. Many colleges obtain funding from the student club, college administration, the university and through fundraising. To send more delegates, it is becoming increasingly popular for delegates to contribute to their costs.

Send someone who will make a return on the investment that your college will make in sending him or her. It's going to be a great week, so send great people! Each college will be sent a Marketing Kit with a detailed procedure on how to choose the best delegates for your college. If you would like further assistance with selection procedures at your college please contact the NAAUC President, Shayne Herriott, at president@naauc.edu.au, or the Conference Directors, Kobie Olsen and Laura Stokes, at conference@naauc.edu.au.

WHY SEND A RETURNING DELEGATE?

When deciding how many delegates to send and selecting individual delegates, keep in mind the benefits of sending a past delegate as a Team Leader, including:

- More information is taken in by all your delegates and more quickly: they are more likely to ask their Team Leader questions rather than strangers.
- More information is taken in by the particular delegate: they know how the seven days work, what the Association is about, what the executive and working party do, and the format of the conference; these individuals will excel in their appropriation of the academic content.
- Fast-track networking: the Team Leader knows the executive and past delegates and can introduce your delegates to them (networking is a very powerful post conference tool).
- Can co-ordinate your team to get the most out of the conference, directing them in the areas your college needs the most help with.

In return for sending them to the conference, they could:

- Be responsible for compiling a post-conference report;
- Organise a new, community-focused initiative at your college which they take away from the Conference;
- Organise a presentation of the report within a month of semester 2 beginning;
- Help select the other delegates; and
- Co-ordinate the registration and payment of all delegates.

SECURING FUNDING

The Annual Conference is the highlight of the NAAUC year. Hundreds of delegates from colleges and residences around Australia gather together for a week to discuss relevant issues, exchange ideas, and socialize. Funding delegates can be an area of difficulty. There are a number of Costs involved, including:

- Conference fees;
- Transport expense to and from the conference; and
- Ancillary costs, such as for social events, merchandise and general spending.

From a funding point of view, costs can be minimized by ensuring that your college or residence is a member of the Association. The annual membership fee is lower than the loading per delegate on the conference fee – thus it makes sense to join NAAUC! Delegates can attend at a discount rate, and your college or residence gets all the benefits of membership.

The two largest costs are the conference fee and the transport expense. These are typically funded by a combination of the student club, the College or residence administration, and if necessary, the delegate personally. For example, three-quarters of the cost may be paid by the student club and administration, and the remainder by the delegate. Ancillary costs are generally funded by the delegates personally.

It is always worth approaching your head of college for financial assistance in sending delegates to the conference. It is also possible to supplement funding by holding a fundraising event within the college or residence. External sponsorship is always an option.

BIDDING FOR NAAUC

Hosting a NAAUC conference is an excellent opportunity for your college, university and city to let their true colours show. By organising over 200 delegates to come and stay in your college for a week, visiting delegates will learn the traditions and leadership styles and the unique aspects of your college.

It is also a great way to advertise your college. Putting on a professional seven-day event is a great experience. While it sounds daunting, you have an active and excellent support base in over ten Life Members, heaps of past executives, working party members, and delegates as well as many tools to make organizing one of Australia's premier young leader conferences as easy as possible. More than 20 people are directly and intensely involved in the making of an annual NAAUC conference. There is no better feeling than standing in front of 200 people, watching them intently listen to an amazing speaker, and saying to yourself "I was a part of this". It is a wonderful feeling, knowing you have helped many colleges and people throughout Australia to improve, even if only a little.

PREPARATION

Preparation is the key. Almost always, the winning college is not the one with the most exotic location, or exciting social calendar, but the college that has proven its organizational skills by presenting a well laid out, informative and concise presentation.

APPROACH THE COLLEGE ADMINISTRATION

Conferences are a vital part of generating revenue for a college and keeping residents' fees down. Most administrations would be only too happy to host the conference, especially as they have an early booking (one year ahead!). Get a quote for accommodation and dining costs during the week and maybe a written letter of support from your Head of College or another relevant person.

GAIN SUPPORT AND SPONSORSHIP

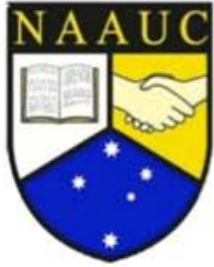

Support can be obtained from the local council, university, college office, local government and local and national businesses. This can be in the form of a direct financial contribution or free/discounted products and services to be used during the conference. Conferences are of considerable financial benefit to whichever state and region is playing host - if you 'sell' the idea of the conference to them, they will often come forward with money or some other form of support.

OTHER AREAS

Other areas that should be researched and included in the presentation are potential speakers, workshop topics, venues and social functions. A professional presentation using videos or PowerPoint can be an advantage.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

If you would like to take on the challenge of organising one of Australia's leading conferences for young leaders you must contact the President, Shayne Herriott or the Conference Directors, Kobie Olsen and Laura Stokes. They will not only supply you with invaluable information and advice as former successful bidders and Presidents, but will also register your intention to bid.

NAAUC SCHOLARSHIPS

NAAUC Scholarship Program 2010

The National Association of Australian University Colleges is the peak representative body for tertiary students living on campus: a very diverse group of individuals. Over the past few years, NAAUC has found it difficult to attract a conference delegation which accurately reflects the diversity on campus. To encourage a diverse and representative delegation at the 2010 Conference, we are pleased to offer the following "Access Scholarships" (see below).

These Access Scholarships are complimented with a new category started at the 2008 Perth Conference – "Returning Delegate Scholarships". The NAAUC Executive recognises that almost without exception, NAAUC's returning delegates are individuals who make outstanding contributions to their community on campus. Moreover, these individuals are critical to the future of NAAUC: we encourage past delegates to apply if they are interested in seeking a position on the NAAUC Executive or as a State Representative.

The 2010 NAAUC Executive is pleased to offer the following scholarships:

Access Scholarship

- An international tertiary student living at a college or hall of residence in Australia for the duration of 2010.
- A tertiary student living at a college or hall of residence in Australia for the duration of 2010 who is of Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander descent.
- A tertiary student living at a college or hall of residence in Australia for the duration of 2010 which is situated in a regional or remote area in relation to the 2010 conference.

Returning Delegate Scholarships

- Any individual who has attended at least one NAAUC Conference in the past 3 years.
- NB – the Executive will seek to award at least 2 Returning Delegate Scholarships.

Value of Scholarship

Each scholarship is to the value of $500 and will be supplied as a discount from the recipient's conference fee.

Selection Criteria

- Successful applicants will need to demonstrate/provide evidence that they:
- Have made an important and positive contribution to their college, hall or on-campus community;
 - Have promoted the ideals and values of their college, hall or on-campus community;
 - possess strong written and oral skills;
 - possess a willingness to actively participate and contribute during the conference

Additionally:

- "Access Scholarship" applicants must be from a NAAUC member college and must demonstrate that they are willing to return after the conference to make a further contribution to their college.
- "Returning Delegate Scholarship" applicants must demonstrate how they will contribute to the Association (NAAUC) after the conference.

Application Details and Timeline

- Applications must be word processed.
- Applicants must provide a reference from their College Head (or previous Head) and College Club President (where applicable).

All Applications must be addressed to the NAAUC Executive, e-mailed to: exec@naauc.edu.au

Applications are due by the close of business on 28 May 2010. Applications received after this date will not be considered. Applications will be considered by the Executive Committee and applicants will be notified by 11 June 2010 if they have been successful.

More Information

Please see under the Conference section of our website for "Scholarships".

NOTE: It is the sole discretion of the NAAUC Executive Committee to award these scholarships. The number and value of scholarships awarded may be varied at any time.

TRAVEL INFORMATION

AIR TRAVEL

Qantas, Virgin Blue and Jetstar offer regular flights from all major cities to Brisbane. For those looking for a bargain keep an eye out for the specials offered by each of the airlines as soon as delegates are selected. The sooner you select the cheaper it will be! The airline's websites, travel agent websites and your state paper are a good place to start.

The contact details for these airlines are:

Qantas 13 13 13 or www.qantas.com.au

Virgin Blue 13 67 89 or www.virginblue.com.au

Jetstar 13 15 38 or www.jetstar.com.au

Tiger Airways 9335 3033 or www.tigerairways.com

GETTING TO EMMANUEL

To get from the airport to Emmanuel College, NAAUC shuttle buses will once again be running to and fro on the day of registration and possibly the evening before (depending on delegate times of arrival). It is important that when registering for the conference you specify the exact time of arrival and departure as well as your airline and flight number so that we can best organise the bus times.

If you are too excited for NAAUC, or arrive outside of the NAAUC shuttle bus pick up times, then catch a taxi from the taxi rank directly outside the airport straight to Emmanuel College, or catch a bus or train to Central Station, then a bus to St Lucia. Taxis from the airport to Emmanuel will cost about $30 to $40. Tell the driver to take you to Emmanuel College, Sir William Macgregor Drive in St Lucia. If the driver is struggling say it's at UQ and they should be able to find it.

For those wishing to drive to the conference, Emmanuel has a few parking spaces available throughout the conference. It's best to contact us before you drive to UQ so we can know for sure that you have a car park secured on arrival.

Anyone wanting more information should contact Kobie or Laura.

WHAT TO BRING

- College clothing and paraphernalia to swap in our infamous 'College Merch Swap' (rugby tops, boxer shorts, t-shirts, stickers, magazines, stubby holders, lanyards, bottle openers, pens, any sweet college merch you can find!)
- Spending money for outings, merchandise and social events
- Nightclub/pub casual wear
- Costumes for Tropicana Evening (Hawaiian shirts, hula skirts, sarongs, etc)
- Tweed attire for the Annual NAWCC AGM
- Crazy outfits for Vegas Wedding
- Formal dinner attire/ Cocktail for Emmanuel Opening dinner (Boys- shirt, coat and tie, Girls- cocktail dress or skirt)
- Black Tie attire for NAAC Ball
- Business dress for parliamentary debating
- Maroon clothing for State of Origin (including but not limited to jerseys, warpaint, flags, etc)
- Wet weather gear/ warm clothing
- Pens and paper for note taking
- Toiletries
- Camera
- Bond ($60 cheque)

All registered delegates will receive an email before the conference with more specific details on costumes for social events, and any other relevant items needed for the week.

MERCHANDISE

Each delegate will receive a lanyard and shirt for use throughout the conference. There will be NAAUC swiggers and jerseys for sale throughout the week for purchase. Swiggers will be $10 for purchase, and delegates will receive discounted beverages throughout the week when using their swigger.

College delegates upon paying the all inclusive ticket price - from lunch time on Sunday the 4th July to the evening of the 11th July (with the exception of the 'Option' night, where you have the option of going into Brisbane City), will receive a traditional UQ Formal Dinner, a single ticket to the Annual NAAUC Ball and VIP to the after party in the city. Delegates will also receive accommodation at Emmanuel or Duchesne College for the duration of the conference, and all meals for the week, including morning and afternoon tea. Transfers to and from airports and stations to UQ will be supplied by Red Frogs, and parking at Emmanuel if needed.

Delegates will also have included into their ticket prices all lectures, guest speakers, the complete academic program, social activities, conference report during the conference, and throughout the year access to valuable information from the people who really know what college is all about!

The NAAUC 2010 Conference Ticket Prices are as follows;

- Member College Delegate $ 800.00
- Non Member College Delegate $ 965.00
- Member College Day Delegate $ 700.00
- Non Member Day Delegate $ 865.00

Day delegate fees includes everything the Member College Delegate receives, minus the accommodation fees. As there are limited places at Emmanuel, accommodation will be given according to a 'first in-first served' registration process. Other accommodation will be given at another UQ College once we have reached capacity (Registration opens 9am, Monday 26 April, 2010).

A late fee of $50.00 per delegate will be charged for late registration forms and payment (registration closes at 5pm Friday, June 18th, 2010). The late fee will be payable during Conference registration on Sunday 4th July, 2010 at Emmanuel College.

A compulsory $60.00 bond is also to be paid only by cheque by each delegate on arrival to Emmanuel during Conference Registration.

REGISTRATION

Follow these 4 easy steps to complete registration for the 42nd NAAUC Conference!

Step 1): Complete the online registration form

From the NAAUC home page, go to the 'Conference' page and click on 'Register for the Conference'. Registration opens 9am, 26th April and closes 5pm, 18th June. Before going on-line have your transport details handy (if you don't have these handy, email them to the Conference Directors as soon as you confirm your details). Remember to select your preferred outing option!

Step 2): Organise payment

Once you have registered on-line, a tax invoice will be emailed to the person nominated in your registration forms. At the bottom of the invoice is a payment slip. This should be printed and returned to the address provided - with a cheque made out to "National Association of Australian University Colleges Incorporated". If you send more than one cheque, be sure to include details of what each cheque is paying for. BPAY will become available during registration. Check the conference website or the invoice for further instructions. Please note that all receipts will be sent to the person nominated on the registration form.

Step 3): Mail the cheque and form

All forms and cheques should be sent to NAAUC Treasurer, Gabby Honey, before 18th June. If cheques and forms are not received by 18 June, a $50 late fee will apply to each delegate.

Postage Address:

Gabby Honey
Union College
Upland Road
St Lucia, QLD 4067

Step 4): Pay your bond on arrival

Each delegate must pay a $60 bond (in the form of cheque) on arrival. This will be refunded to each delegate after the Conference, provided there is no damage to any facilities used throughout the week.

That's it!

In late June a registration confirmation letter will be emailed to your supplied address with an information card on the specific details of what to bring, and any other last minute conference news or instructions.

If you do not have access to the internet or have any problems registering online please contact the Conference Directors by emailing kobieolsen@naauc.edu.au or laurastokes@naauc.edu.au.

EQUITY POLICY

When delegates attend the Conference this July, they can be confident that they will be walking into a safe, inclusive and friendly environment. To that end we have created an equity policy to be administered by designated officers during the Conference.

- The National Association of Australian University Colleges Executive and Working party is committed to a policy of equal opportunity in all areas of college life. The executive and working party accept that it is their responsibility to create an environment free from discrimination and to ensure that a principal of merit is able to operate free from regard to irrelevant criteria.
- These criteria may include but are not limited to sex, marital status, pregnancy, race, age, religion, sexual preference, political beliefs, impairment, family responsibility and family status.
- People are to be treated fairly as individuals with rights and responsibilities that are to be respected. No person is to be unfairly discriminated against, abused or exploited. The Executive and Working Party aim to promote a just environment whereby all members are able to access any opportunities they may wish and to facilitate full participation in college community.
- All persons are to conduct themselves in a personally professional manner, upholding the expectations of themselves, their college, Emmanuel College, the Executive and the Working Party at all times.
- Any issue that may arise should be reported to the appropriate person as soon as practical so resolution procedures can be commenced, with the aim of preventing and further harm to any person, college, NAAUC and its agents.

The policy and procedures adopted by NAAUC is aimed to:

- Promote an inclusive environment free from prejudice and characterised by respect;
- Ensure that the rights and responsibilities of each person is upheld;
- Meet the requirements of State and Federal legislation as well as the current University policy and expectations that attach to positions as future role models;
- Ensure that any issues are dealt with in a sensitive, efficient and comprehensive manner.

For the purposes of this policy:

- "Executive" refers to the President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, Conference Directors, Information Technology Director.
- "College" includes the relevant college grounds and property, events organised and facilitated by a college or affiliate of college.
